New York's 529 Advisor-Guided College Savings Program®

January 2020–March 2021

RESULTS

The Plan's suite of age-based and asset allocation portfolios outperformed benchmarks during the 15-month period dominated by COVID. Our goals were twofold in actively managing portfolios through this turbulent time. First, navigate volatility to help Plan participants stay invested. Second, capture the long-term return opportunities needed to keep pace with tuition inflation and enhance college funding outcomes.

ACTIVELY ADJUSTED PLAN PORTFOLIOS THROUGH CHANGING CONDITIONS

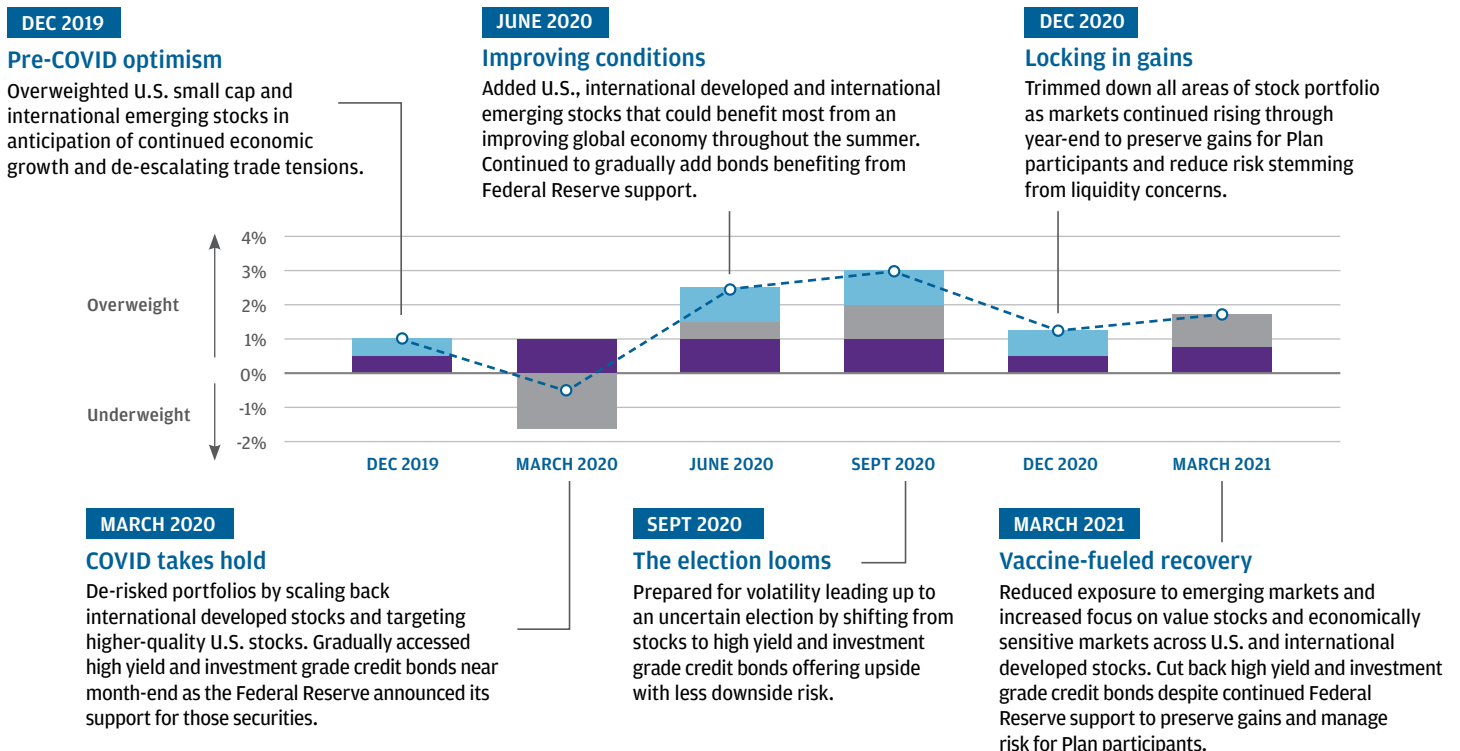

Using research insights and a flexible investment process, we managed risks and pursued returns as they arose - while maintaining broad diversification throughout.

Oversight by J.P. Morgan's Multi-Asset Solutions Group

- Dedicated team of more than 100 investment professionals<sup>1</sup>
- More than $290 billion in global assets under management<sup>1</sup>
- Builds Plan portfolios, selects investments and makes adjustments as market conditions change over time

A NOTE ON MANAGER SELECTION

Who manages each portfolio holding and how they best fit together are key considerations in expressing our market and allocation views. We use actively managed strategies in more inefficient asset classes like U.S. small cap and emerging markets stocks. For efficient markets, such as U.S. large caps and core bonds, we complement active managers with passive strategies. Over the past 15 months, active strategies proved valuable in generating added return and managing risk through the volatility.

LOOKING AHEAD

We are optimistic that the COVID and economic environments are improving. However, questions remain about growth, inflation and rising interest rates as well as which parts of the stock market will drive returns going forward. What worked last year is not likely to work this year. As a result, we are investing with more nuance than ever, making sure to choose the asset classes, managers and individual securities poised to benefit from reopening and recovery.

We believe our focus on diversification and active allocation were keys to delivering solid returns and smoother rides through COVID. Looking ahead, we will maintain the same thoughtful approach in managing important college assets for our clients.
